CLEMSON ATHLETICS IS ROOTED IN A DEEP TRADITION OF success. For more than 100 years, your Tigers have been competing at the highest levels for conference and national championships. Today, Clemson athletics boasts 21 programs, and our men's soccer program led by 13-year veteran Head Coach Mike Noonan is among the nation's elite.

The 2021 season was historic for the program as they upended No. 2 Washington, 2-0, to win the 2021 Men's Soccer National Championship. The victory marked the Tigers' third national title, joining the 1984 and 1987 teams. During the tournament run, Clemson knocked off the No. 1, No. 2, No. 4 and No. 9 overall seeds. The momentum behind the program has never been greater. Since Coach Noonan took over the program in 2010, the team's accomplishments have been phenomenal. The Tigers have claimed three ACC titles, earned eight berths into the NCAA tournament, and reached at least the NCAA Tournament quarterfinals in four of those eight trips, including a National Runner Up finish in 2015 and the National Championship in 2021.

In addition to the team accolades, 23 players have been drafted in the MLS super draft since 2014, including a school record six Tigers being selected in 2022. Three Clemson student-athletes were drafted in the first round of the 2021 draft, a first in program history. The Clemson coaching staff has twice been named the NCAA Division I Men's Coaching Staff of the Year in 2015 and 2021. Additionally, three times in the program's history has a player been selected as the Mac Herman Trophy Recipient, college soccer's most prestigious honor. Robbie Robinson was the most recent Clemson recipient of the award in 2019.

For Clemson soccer, the future remains incredibly bright. The program's continued growth is a top priority to stay among the nation's elite. The new Soccer Operations Complex completed in the fall of 2020 is an outward example of the commitment to success for years to come. The new facility, located next to the soccer practice fields, provides approximately 13,000 square feet of space for both the men's and women's programs. The home of Clemson soccer includes locker rooms, coaches' offices, an athletic training room, an outdoor patio that overlooks the practice fields, and more.

Coach Noonan and his staff have continued our program's great history of success. As a member of the most competitive soccer league in the country, the Atlantic Coast Conference, he needs your support to provide the tools to keep us there. With the momentum surrounding our program and our new Soccer Operations Complex, now is the time to provide our coaching staff with additional yearly funding for recruiting efforts and player development. These are both key components that are necessary to maintaining our winning program year after year. We need your philanthropic support of the Clemson United Fund to keep our men's soccer program at the top, where we have been for more than six decades.

Are you ready to step onto the pitch with them and help keep our Tigers at the top of the ACC and beyond? A gift to the Clemson United Fund will significantly impact our men's soccer program and the young men who make us so proud.
